

Organic Farming Using Natural Resources of International Cooperation in the Fields of Science, Education and Innovation in The Republic of Uzbekistan

Prof. Dr. Imomov Shavkat Jakhonovich

Rector

Bukhara Institute of Natural Resources Management of the National Research University of Tashkent Institute of Irrigation and Agricultural Mechanization Engineers

Uzbekistan

shavkat-imomov@rambler.ru

ABSTRACT: In the text of the report, changes in the higher education, science and innovation of the Republic of Uzbekistan, the priority directions of the socio-economic development of the country, the fact that special attention is currently being paid to the training of personnel in the engineering and technical directions of education, achievements in international cooperation, a brief scientific, scientific and innovative achievements of the Bukhara oasis, and a brief summary of the author achievements in science and the professors-scientists of the world's prestigious universities have been presented with suggestions on how to eliminate environmental and epidemiological disasters by focusing more attention on organic farming in the future.

In particular, in cooperation with the leading universities and scientific centers of the Hungarian state, proposals are made to all European countries to reduce the use of mineral and chemical elements that are harmful to human health in the process of agricultural cultivation.